

ABSTRACT

A method of fabricating an integrated circuit comprises forming or providing a solution containing carbon nanotubes and forming a metal layer utilizing the solution.